A Founding Notion: Protecting the Breadwinner's Income

While jobs are safer than ever in 2016, accidents, injuries, and illnesses that can impact your ability to work still happen. Most, in fact, do not happen on the job site or place of employment. Did you know that a recent study revealed that more than 95 percent of the long-term disability claims on file were not work related?

The loss of the breadwinner does not have to mean that person's death; it can also mean the loss of the breadwinner's income. Consider that loss for a moment. How would your family fare if a source of income suddenly stopped? Could a dual-income family manage on one income stream? What about young families with a working father and a mother who cares for the children? What if his income halted due to an accident or illness?

I've heard some people say they have coverage at work, but too many aren't sure what this coverage entails, how much income it would provide, or for how long. Having this protection counts for something, certainly, but it isn't yours; it's provided by the company for which you work at its discretion. It could be eliminated tomorrow.

That's where a personally-owned disability income insurance product, like Knights of Columbus Income Armour, comes into play.

It can offer valuable income replacement in the event of an injury or illness. While Father McGivney likely never imagined such a product in 1882, I'm sure he would wholeheartedly endorse the protection it can provide to a family.

In short, if you have a job and don't have a way to protect that paycheck, you should seriously consider Income Armour today. I look forward to meeting with you.

You can reach me at (941) 923-7912 or via E-mail at Frank.Burns@kofc.org.
